Seasonal

Many businesses are cyclical in nature, and to maximize your capital expenditures, renting an extra truck to help you through the surge of your seasonal business is the right decision. Raymond Storage Concepts specializes in having the equipment you need, when you need it the most.

Ready for any need, at any time

Our rental fleet - supplemented by over 12,000 forklifts in Raymond's Sales and Service Center Network - is regularly updated with new equipment and maintained according to manufacturer's specifications. Every rental truck is prepped by a Raymond Certified Technician and quality inspected by our shop foreman to make sure that each piece of equipment is ready to work when it reaches your facility.

Equipment Rentals are ideal for:

- » Supplementing your existing forklift fleet for seasonal requirements, when you're conducting physical inventory or when replacing trucks for scheduled repairs
- » Maximizing equipment use to help you better manage capital costs when right-sizing your fleet
- » Establishing the value of equipment before purchasing or leasing to ensure it best fits your needs
- » Special projects and short term needs
- » Supplementing your equipment needs for seasonal requirements and unplanned peaks in activity
- » Meeting emergency equipment needs when changing to multiple shifts or waiting for delivery of new equipment

Short & Long Term

Offering trucks on a daily, weekly, monthly or longer rental cycle, Raymond Storage Concepts can help you fill your equipment needs for any length of time you desire. These flexible rental periods are set up to help you rent as efficiently as possible. Raymond Storage Concepts' factory trained service technicians provide maintenance to keep your operation running smoothly. Many units are in stock and available for immediate delivery.
